The first step of any successful Machine Vision project is a Proof of Concept or a Feasibility Study, giving you and your customer the confidence that the solution you have designed is not just theoretical but will work in the real world.

Clearview's Feasibility Lab and Demo Room allows just that; a dedicated workspace for Clearview's engineering team to put vision systems through their paces. The engineering team will work with you to test your project using real samples to find the best hardware and software to give you and your customer a reliable solution

Prices for a Standard Feasibility Study from £1,250.
